MESSAGE FROM DEAN WALCOTT

UGA's graduate students are at the forefront of critical breakthroughs in health and well-being, advancements in social justice, and promoting a safe and secure nation and world. They are producing important works of art, bringing new dimensions to our understandings of classic literature, and ensuring we have a more complete and nuanced understanding of history. Joining them will help position you not only for a successful and satisfying career but also for impact in your local community or across the globe.
